Writers Plan Confab

The League of Utah Writers will sponsor its annual roundup on Sept. 7, 8 and 9 at the Hotel Utah in Salt Lake City.

According to Edgar DeMiller, president of the Utah Valley Chapter of the League of Utah Writers, featured speakers at the seminar will be David Atlee Phillips, John Sterling Harris and Alicia Condon.

Mr. Phillips was an actor and writer in New York before and after World War II. In 1950 he became the editor and publisher of an English-language newspaper in Santiago, Chile. He abandoned his journalistic career, however, in favor of a 25-year career with the CIA.

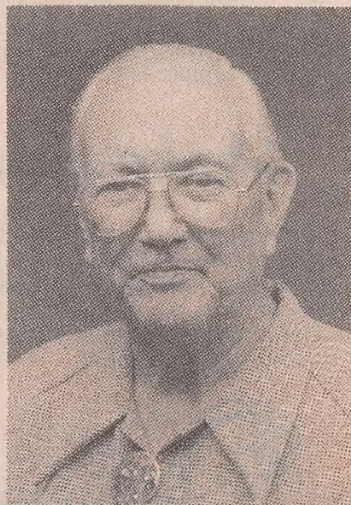

Phillips retired from the CIA in 1975 to found the Association of Former Intelligence Officers, and to resume his writing career. He authored The Night Watch, a memoir; The Carlos Contract, a novel of international terrorism; and The Great Texas Murder Trials, a study of crime in Texas.

A frequent lecturer on national security matters, Phillips is currently writing a book of biographical profiles of CIA directors.

John Harris writes poetry on a wide variety of subjects, but focuses on the West.

Harris was educated at the University of Utah, Brigham

Young University and the University of Texas. He has taught at the University of Texas and BYU. He is a nationally recognized authority on technical writing.

His poems have been published in several academic journals as well as The Ensign and Sport Aviation. He has also authored two volumes of poetry.

Ms. Condon has been part of the boom in romance writing for the last five years. She was an editor of MacFadden Romances, editor-in-chief of Romantic Magazine and senior editor of Silhouette Books. She now works on all four of Silhouette's adult lines, acquiring manuscripts from unpublished authors as well as some of the genre's most popular writers.

As a sidelight to the upcoming writing seminar, Mr. DeMiller noted that Governor Scott Matheson recently proclaimed the week of Sept. 2 as Utah Writers' Week.

Des News Wed 2 Jan 1984

PROVO — New officers have been named for the Utah County Chapter of the League of Utah Writers.

Wanda S. Petersen, American Fork, will serve as president through 1985. She succeeds Edgar DeMiller, Provo. Mrs. Petersen, a member of the local chapter for 10 years, has written historical fiction and biographies of family members.

Patt Jensen, Provo, a technical ghost writer, will be vice president and president-elect. Hazel K. Petersen, American Fork, who writes historical articles and poetry, will be secretary.

David Alger, a Provo fiction writer, will serve as treasurer. Esther Moore, Orem, will represent the Utah County chapter at state meetings.

Members of the local chapter of the League of Utah Writers meet the second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Job Service building, 1550 N. Second West, Provo.

Workshops, guest speakers, critiquing of work and a monthly newsletter are included in the group's activities. On Jan. 10, the public is invited to hear guest speaker Lee Nelson, author of "The Storm Testament" and "Wasatch Savage."

"That eliminates the tendency for a fellow to lay back waiting to get one good punch in," Fowler explained.

In addition, there are extensive rules requiring physical exams before each match and that a doctor be at ringside.

"Amateur boxers are called boxers," Fowler said. "They go to boxing matches, or bouts. They are not fighters. There is a difference."

Boxing teaches many things: confidence, self-control, determination and tenacity. And Fowler and his club teach other principles as well.

"The kids that want to pay the price and live the clean life are the ones who will excel in life," he said.
